44% of U.S. adults are single or single again (18+). [1]

Unmarried households now outnumber married households. [1]

Why do many churches design programs that only target 56% of the U.S. adult demographics and exclude the specific needs and interests of the other 44% of the U.S. adult demographics?

Are churches interested in the spiritual well-being of Single Adults?

Where should Single Adults go to receive Biblical understanding and perspective about the following issues?

- Pre-marital education
- Re-Marital education
- Singleness in a family-oriented church
- Dating/dating again
- Relating to the former spouse
- Learning to forgive the ex
- Shared parenting
- Blending families
- Healthy step-parenting
- Adjusting to Widowhood
- Rearing kids alone
- Accepting Singleness
- Sexuality and Singleness
- Peer Friendships
- Relating to married adults as a single adult
- Financial issues as a single
- Career choice as a single
- Loneliness
- Learning to trust again
- Divorce Recovery
- Grief Recovery [1]

Where are Single Adults getting their information if not from the church?

As read in "The Hidden Mission Field: Reaching Out to Young Adults and Single Adults"

(by Dennis Franck, National Director, Assemblies of God Single Adult/Young Adult Ministries):

"Jesus did not fit the social, cultural, or family mold as a single adult."

"A church that mainly emphasizes families and marriage is not healthy."
